The effective date of certain products may be different from the date specified above. In that case the effective date for such product will be specified together with any other special rules applicable to the product.

CALCULATION METHOD APPLIED TO FEES AND CHARGES IN THE ANNOUNCEMENT:

Fees and charges in the Announcement will be adjusted on 1st April each year, by applying a value equal to, or lower than, the aggregate consumer price index (inflation) calculated for the period elapsed from the most recent inflationary adjustment of fees and charges. For the purposes of the inflationary adjustment process, each fee item, as well as its percentage value and minimum and maximum values, are considered to be separate items. The most recent inflationary adjustment date for each item is contained in the Announcement.

The aggregate value of inflation is calculated by using official figures for inflation (annual consumer price index) as published by the Hungarian Central Statistical Office related to the previous calendar year.

When adjusting fees for inflation, the Bank will apply generally accepted rules of rounding and publish percentage values by specifying decimals to two decimal places. The difference between the value resulting from the calculation of adjustment for inflation and the value resulting from rounding will be taken into account in the course of the inflationary adjustment process in the following year as appropriate (either to be added or deducted). The Bank will modify the Announcement by displaying hard copies in Bank branches and publishing it electronically on its website two months before the effective date.

Reasons for the present amendment are:

- clarification of the text of regular investment and the revision of preconditions
